Now I would like to get started with Play Games. I'm using an Android device (HTC Vision) running Android 2.1 and connected to the net. I have installed the Play Games SDK from the Android Developer Tools site. Now I'm stuck at the step where you connect the device to the Google Play Games services. First I went to the device's settings and selected "USB debugging" under developer options and then added the "Enable development mode" option under the "Settings" button. Then I went to the Google Play Games services site and entered my account credentials and then clicked the "Connect" button. Now the "Connect" page seems to come up and when I click "Connect" on the Android device I get the following message in the top of the Android SDK manager: Connecting to Google Play Games Android Connection Failed: Google Play Games is not connected I have tried the following: Deleting the app Deleting the app and reinstalling it (including updating the Google Play Games Services) Rebooting the device
